Description

Thodupuzha is the largest commercial town in Kerala's Idukki district, known for its natural beauty, lush greenery, and as a major filming location (the "Hollywood of Kerala"), serving as a gateway to high-range tourist spots like Munnar. Thodupuzha is a scenic setting, and it's a central hub for commerce, education, and transport in the region, offering a blend of serene atmosphere with accessibility. Situated in central Kerala, bordering Kottayam and Ernakulam districts, acting as a crucial link to eastern tourist destinations. Good public transport, making it a central point for travel. Pattayam kaval is a local area or junction, notable for small businesses like grocery stores (e.g., Rs Vegetables & Fruits).
