Description

About Mananthavady: Mananthavady is a scenic town and municipality in the Wayanad district of Kerala, located along the banks of the Mananthavady River, a tributary of the Kabini River. It is one of the major towns in Wayanad and serves as an important cultural and commercial center in the northern part of the district. The name "Mananthavady" is believed to come from the Malayalam phrase "Maane Eytha Vady," meaning "the place where the deer was shot by an arrow." A nearby place called Ambukuthi is linked to this local legend. Many travelers and locals describe Mananthavady as calmer and greener compared to busier Kerala towns, especially during monsoon and winter seasons. Discussions online often mention the scenic Kuttiady and Thamarassery ghat routes leading to the town. Property Details: Land Area: 71cent. Cultivation: well maintained Coffee, Pepper.
